

DURRANT® BIOGRAPHY

Scott A. Bohning
AIA, NCARB, LEED-AP

Senior Managing Principal &
Board Member

Scott Bohning joined Durrant in 1992 as part of the Roberts Dinsmore Associates acquisition in Phoenix. His primary responsibilities today include the management and success of the Phoenix, Tucson, Denver and Atlanta offices, all part of the Southwest Region.

Currently, with over 30 years experience in architectural design and management, Scott has devoted the majority of his career to the design and development of over 50 public facilities, ranging from police operations centers, state and municipal courthouses, jails and prisons to governmental administration facilities. He understands the operational needs of these specialized, multi-user facilities, and is adept at working with large user groups in programming, needs assessments, and design. Scott routinely provides his public safety and criminal justice expertise to other Durrant offices and, through consulting, to other architectural firms throughout the United States.

Scott is an architect, a senior project manager, managing principal, LEED Accredited Professional, a member of the Durrant Corporate Leadership Group and is on the Durrant Board of Directors.
