

DURRANT AND UWP COLLABORATE TO HONOR WOMEN IN ENGINEERING

The Durrant Group and the University of Wisconsin-Platteville recently collaborated to honor female engineering students at the third annual Durrant Women in Engineering Banquet.

Durrant and UWP established this partnership in 2006 to fund a banquet to honor women in the College of Engineering, Mathematics and Science (EMS). This event is a celebration of women pursuing careers in the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. The banquet also provides an opportunity for students to network with professionals outside the program.

"As a company, we've established strategic initiatives to develop a more diverse workforce. We are very excited about our continued participation in this event as it aligns with some of the company's goals," explains Kevin Eipperle, managing principal for the Dubuque office.
